

CLONING:

1. Install the git from google

2. Open the existing repository with code in the github account

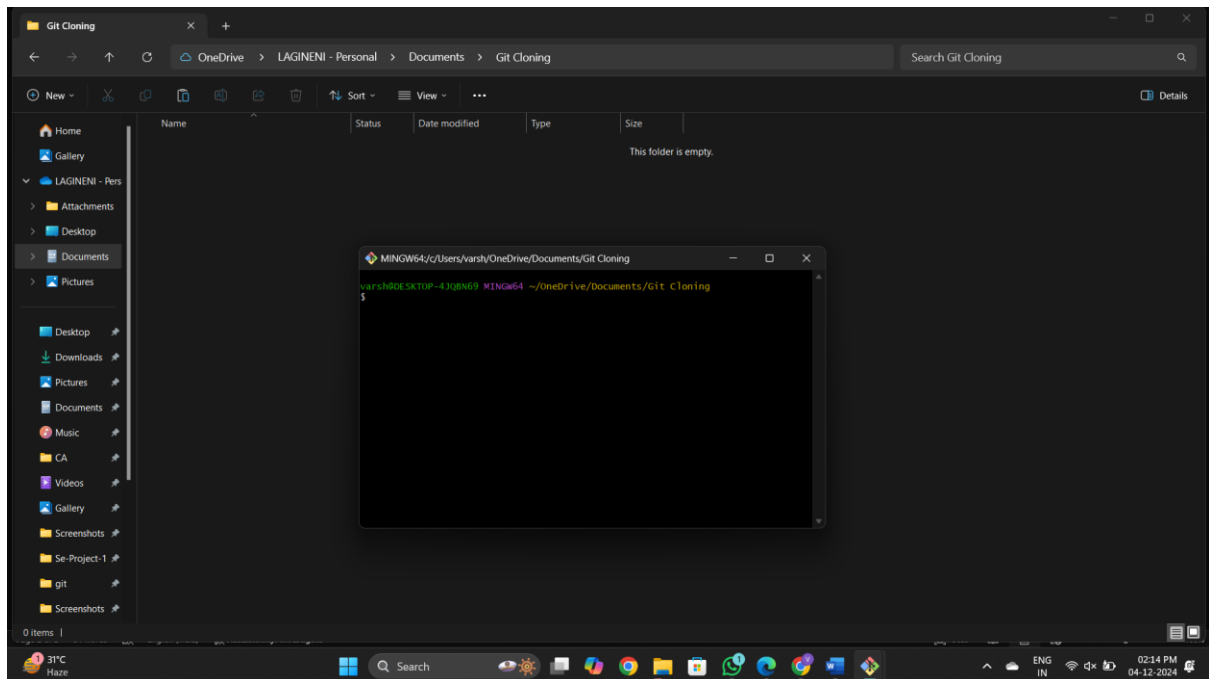

3. Just click on the “code” option and copy the url

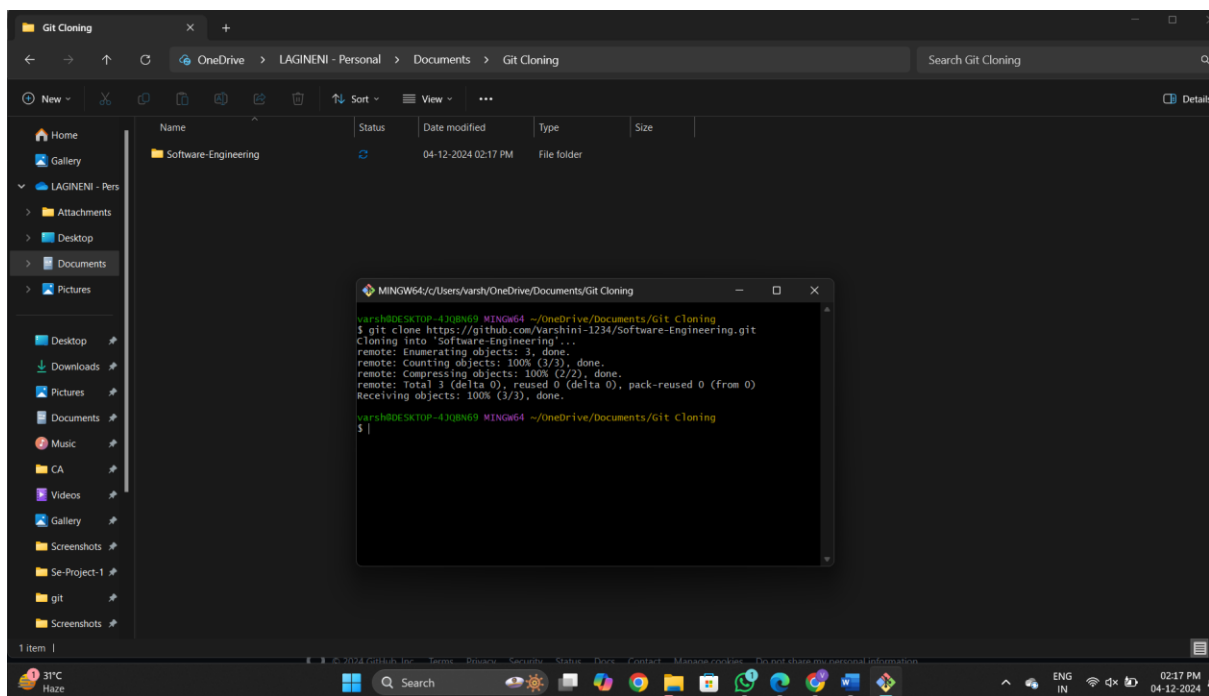

4.create one new folder in file management and open it

In that new empty folder give right click and open “git bash here”

5.Now, type git clone <url> which is copied from the github account

6. Now you can see the files which are actually copied (cloning)

